More Productive Ways to Clean and Finish Castings

A Wheelabrator 96-inch Swing Table leads off the cover story — “More Productive Ways to Clean Castings” — in the current issue of Foundry Management and Technology. Pictured is the inspection of a large pipe elbow casting immediately after blast cleaning in our Swing Table. No-bake sand is broken up and reclaimed in the casting cleaning operation at the Backman Foundry, Provo, Utah.

HAVE YOU . . . Supported the JULIANNA CLUB Christmas Basket Program? For just $2.00 you can show your concern for less fortunate Wheelabrator employees and their families.

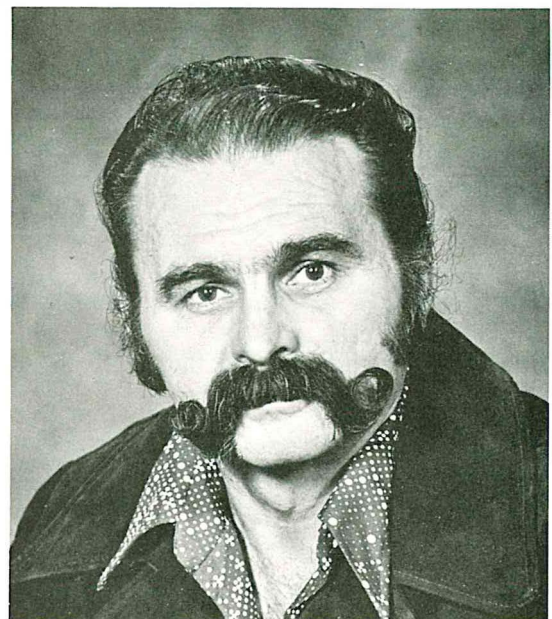

AMERICAN MARKETING ASSOCIATION-Michiana Chapter sponsored their Annual Students' Day last Thursday. Touring our facility were three marketing seniors from Notre Dame — Nace Mullen, Jim O'Brian and Greg Switaj. Later all the students were treated to a dinner program at Century Center.

IT IS IMPORTANT that you have enough to live on. It is more important that you know what to live for.

Dick Fenska, Manager-Parts Sales, and his gal Friday, Shirley Baldwin, tally the scores to determine the home run champion in the recently-held “Wheel Tune Up Kit Sales Contest.” The Champ — Dave Bunce — who edged out Jerry Maddern 102 to 101. Al Sontag, with a strong showing in the last period, finished with a creditable 75. Congratulations, guys!

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY . . .

Celebrating 25 years of company service Saturday is Harold Mayes, Foreman, Plant 2. Congratulations, Harold!

INGENUITY — JIM DAVIDSON'S WAY . . .

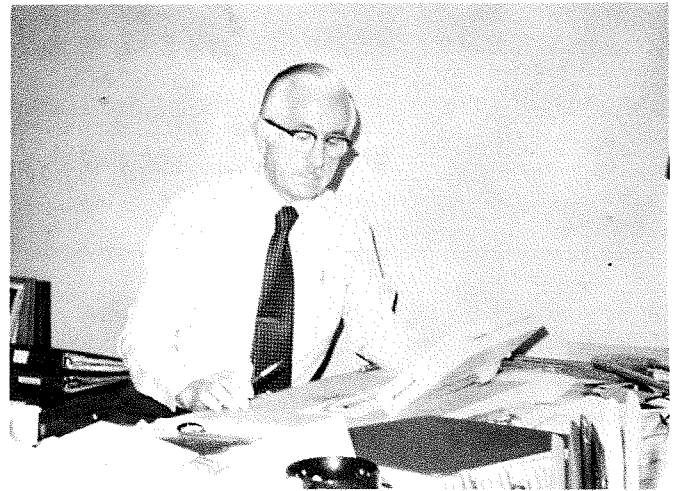

Back on the job after foot surgery, Jim Davidson—Supervisor, APC Blast—displays his unique method for transporting his own coffee, crutches and all! (Observe closely and you will also see a king-size clip for carrying reports, drawings, etc.)

ANGER IS not only inevitable, it is necessary. Its absence means indifference, the most disastrous of all human failings.

NEW FACES . . . Welcome aboard to VELMA WHITE, Stenographer-Personnel.

WHEN NOT AT THE WFI DRAWING BOARD . . .

Some twenty examples of Tony Peters' paintings will be on display, during the month of December, at the Goshen Public Library — 6001 South 5th Street. Worth a trip!
