OLDIES BUT GOODIES . . . You saw them in old hotels, ice cream parlors, and Bogart movies — we've brought them back to conserve energy. As part of our energy conservation program, ceiling fans were installed in the Machine Shop to force rising hot air down to the working areas. We found that the temperature was about 20° warmer at the ceiling than at normal working levels. Other users of this equipment have reported heat savings of 25-35% with improved heat distribution and comfort.
