VOL. I NO. 23
OCTOBER 7, 1977

The present situation provides the opportunity to reaffirm our historical policy regarding our people relationships throughout the organization.

Wheelabrator has enjoyed the reputation of being a "good place to work" at all levels of employment. It has experienced very little personnel problems or labor strife and any differences have always been resolved through discussion.

Our Company has always been fair to its employees, whether hourly or salaried. This policy has been consistent with a firm approach to maintaining efficiency and meeting the needs of our customers through remaining competitive in our products and services. This "fair and firm" policy has proven of benefit to employees and to the Company and it is our continuing goal that such will be true in the future.

We are the servants of the industries we deal with. The requirements of our customers, their needs or desires are always our first priority. Our fellow workers are our partners and our success is their success. In all of our transactions and relationships, we must strive to be considerate of the feelings as well as interests of others, following the principle that only those transactions and relationships are equitable, if they benefit all associated with them.

After this current work stoppage is over, I ask all employees to do all in their power to reinforce this policy through their actions and attitudes.

ON THE JOB . . .

JOHANNA WIENDELS, Secretary to Field Sales Manager Jim Cooke, began her Wheelabrator career 26 years ago in the Sales Department; however, much of her tenure was spent with APC until its move to Pittsburgh. An avid (to say the least) Notre Dame football fan, "Jo" calls herself a "sometimes" bowler and golfer. She is a collector of Dutch pewter and anything "elephant" (the most unusual being an elephant shoehorn). She enjoys traveling, knitting and working around the house. A past President of the Julianna Club, Jo currently serves as its secretary.

WANDA STUTZMAN, Secretary to Messrs. Schulte and West of engineering fame, will celebrate 23 years of company service in December. Wanda and her husband, Bob, have raised a son and a daughter and are the proud grandparents of a grandson and a granddaughter. In addition, they sponsor children in the Foster Parents-Overseas Program. Wanda enjoys the out-of-doors, tending to her garden and spectator sports and "participates" in two bowling leagues — a Mr. & Mrs. and a women's league.

JEAN VERGON, Secretary to Gene Tarabek, Manager-Customer Service, came to Wheelabrator 26 years ago. Jean and husband Ken are a Wheelabrator "family team," with Kenny working out of the Detroit Office as a Service Engineer. They have raised a son and a daughter and have six grandchildren. Jean sings in her church choir (and has since high school!). She enjoys the great outdoors, spending every summer weekend at Tippecanoe Lake. Jean is a past President of the Julianna Club.

YOUTH . . . is a period of time in each one's life when life's many experiences forbid one to take the advice of an older person.

ENGLISH — EGOCENTRIC? English is the only language that capitalizes "I" in writing. In many other languages the "You" is capitalized.
