SERVICE ENGINEERS

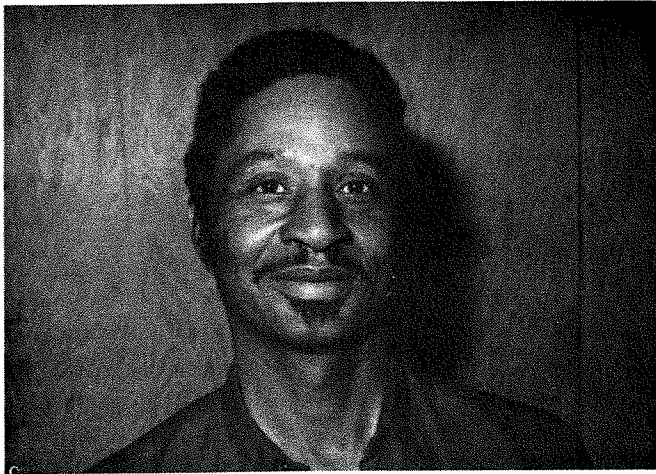

Here's to the boys in the front line trenches
Who hear all the complaints the customer mentions.
The logo colors may be white and blue
But black and blue are our colors true.
Though black and blue and battle-scarred too
The customer is the guy that really loves you.
So onward and upward, you've passed the test
Sell that service — be the best!

NEW FACES . . . A Wheelabrator welcome to Norman E. Pratt, Arc Welder-Steel Fabrication, Harvey M. Jackson, Plant Laborer-Machine Shop, and Lynn Curtis, Clerk-typist-Balcrank.

It is often more difficult to conceal ignorance than to acquire knowledge.

THIS IS THE WAY WE DO OUR WORK . . . Guided by MCSD Metallurgists Joe Eads and John Vasein, 13 Notre Dame students from the Department of Metallurgical Engineering and Materials Science and their professor, Dr. Charles Allen, toured our Mishawaka plant facilities last Tuesday.

If success turns your head, you're facing in the wrong direction.

THE SUBJECT WAS . . . "Centrifugal Blast Surface Treatment" when Fred Baldauf, Industry Manager-Transportation, addressed the American Society for Metals Conference, Louisville, Kentucky, last Wednesday. The conference zeroed in on the practical approach to new technology in cleaning, finishing and coating.
