What BUSINESS?

You, the employee, play many roles. It is possible to be a customer, investor and a neighbor at the same time. In any category, you make business possible.

AVERAGE EMPLOYEES do only what is required of them. Top employees do that — and a little bit more.

THIS IS THE WAY WE CLEAN OUR FLOORS . . .

Product Development's JOHN BERGH (r) points out the merits of our portable blast cleaner "Blastrac" during an actual cleaning session in our foundry. Our 1 20-D Blastrac, manned by BILL BERGER (second from right), Blastrac Service Center Coordinator, efficiently and effectively removed the buildup of binder which is sprayed on cores prior to entering the oven. In some areas there was as much as a one-half inch accumulation of the binder. Properly impressed are (from left) OTTO WALTERS, Regional Manager-Rust Chimney Division, DICK ZELMER, Assistant Superintendent-Foundry and LEON LINDSEY, Foreman-Foundry.

On this point we all agree:
working together — not alone
Is the whole story
as told by Sloan.

Pinstripe suits or workman's blue only depends on what you do.

A team is a team in spite of dress and remains one while producing the best.

The message is as above — working together — not alone To make the best there is to sell, doing it quickly, doing it well, Painting it neatly, it's brand new always in WFI blue.

Paddling to a second place victory at the U.S. Canoeing Association's National Canoe Races held August 20 in St. Charles, Illinois, was our mighty paddler WILL GLUSAC, Manager-Cost Accounting. Time recorded for Will and his partner John Geizer of Pingsville, Ohio was 2 hours, 16 minutes. Winning time was 2 hours, 15 minutes! What a super race!

"You're supposed to work, too!"
